Case Study

plexure

Plexure is a leading global mobile engagement solutions company. They have worked with large-scale corporations like McDonalds since 2013 with their platform solutions.

“Toustone | COSOL have accelerated our ability to help our customers understand their data. Adding a hosted BI tool onto our data platform has let us focus on telling data stories, not the infrastructure that enables them. And we’ve pushed it hard, scaling to users in over 60 countries over a couple of months and pumping billions of events through our platform every month.”

How we did it:

Collaboration with Plexure’s management team identified the need for Toustone | COSOL specialists to create a better solution for Plexure in their service delivery reporting for their millions of customers globally. Toustone | COSOL helped co-design and develop visualisations, provided data strategy advice and solved previous obstacles around finding the right scalable cloud-based solution with high data velocity.

Toustone | COSOL continues to operate as Plexure’s hosting partner, supporting Plexure as they grow in volume and global reach.
